Frontend Inspiration:

- This first website caught my attention due to the heading having the type of cuisine being displayed as rounded images and having some animation once hovering over the image.
- I also like how they have added stars to each recipe where the users can rely on others reviews
- The link to the website: <https://www.yummly.com/>

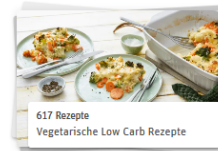

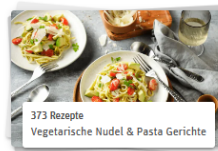

- I think the choice of the picture as background and in the heading plays an important key to catching the users attention. This image uses soft colours and uses a 'dark' theme which indicates elegance.

Vegane Rezepte

- In this website each recipe looks like cards and uses a background as if there were more flashcards behind it.
- It also includes how many recipes there are in each type of cuisine, where it gives the user a wide variety to choose from.
